DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 2 is objected to because of the following informalities: .

In claim 2 on line 6, "said laser beam source" lacks proper antecedent basis.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cain et al. (US 5964391).

Regarding claim 1, Cain teaches a photo-sensor device comprising:

A plurality of fiber bundles, each fiber bundle comprising a light-fiber (124) to apply an inspection light to a subject to be inspected, and a light receiving fiber (122) to receive a reflected light from the subject (S) to be inspected;

At least one light beam source (174) to emit the inspection light to the light applying fiber (124) of each of the fiber bundles;

At least one photo-sensor (178) to receive the reflected light via the light receiving fiber (122) of each of the fiber bundles; and wherein each of the fiber bundles is provided separately (figure 3).

However Cain fails to teach an objective optical system provided at a front end of each of the fiber bundles.

Willits teach an objective optical system provided at a front end of a fiber bundle (figure 1).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the fiber bundle of Cain with the objective as taught by Willits, since the objective of Willits would provide focused beam so that resolution of the system would be increased and also it would prevent any light interference from adjacent fiber bundles.

Regarding claim 2, Cain teaches the photo-sensor device comprises fiber arrays (figure 3) obtained by disposing plural channels (plural fiber bundles) of sensor units in the casing, and wherein each of the sensor units as one channel comprises one of the fiber bundles, one said light beam source (174) connected to each said light applying fiber of the fiber bundles, and one said photo-sensor (178) connected to each said light receiving fiber of the fiber bundles (figure 3 and 5).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-4 are allowed over prior art.

None of the prior art teaches or suggests a disk inspection apparatus having a transfer means for reciprocally transferring a photo-sensor body in a direction perpendicular to a rotating direction of the disk along the surface of the disk and the photo-sensor body comprising a fiber array constructed by arranging a plurality of separate sensor units as multi-channels and each of the sensor units having a light applying fiber, a light-receiving fiber which is bundled with the light applying fiber to form a fiber bundle and an objective optical system provided at a front end of the fiber bundle as claimed in independent claim 3.
